

SCHOOL PROFILE

Clovis Unified School District is in the heart of the San Joaquin Valley and serves the Clovis and Fresno areas. Clovis Unified Schools have been recognized numerous times as some of California's Distinguished Schools. Teachers and staff strive to create an academic system that meets the academic, physical, social and creative needs of students. Clovis' athletic teams regularly take part in State and National Championships and have won multiple state, national and international awards.

Community Information - Fresno became a town during the gold rush and was named for the beautiful ash trees found in the area. It is the city closest to Yosemite national park, and Sierra National Forest, Kings Canyon National Park and Sequoia National Park are a short drive away. The town's many parks and lovely weather encourage residents to enjoy outdoor sports and activities all year round. The historic downtown includes Fulton Mall and a thriving Chinatown. The town has several theaters, a zoo and an amazing underground garden to explore. Nearby ranches and produce packing facilities can be visited for insight into the business of farming in California. Thrill seekers will enjoy the water and amusement parks, as well as river rafting opportunities.
